The Australasian EDUCATION & FIRE AWARENESS Conference 2010

The annual Australasian Education & Fire Awareness Conference is recognised across Australasia as the single largest and most important event with respect to fire Services community approach to, and delivery of, personal preparedness for the general public. As such it continues to garner a tremendous response from all Community Fire Safety and Education specialists from across Australasia.

The 2010 AE&FA Conference will challenge and inspire delegates with presentations covering a wide range of topics. With an expected 450 attendees, it will provide an opportunity for community engagement practitioners to network and exchange knowledge and best practice. Representatives of all the Australasian Fire Services are again expected to be in attendance.

Thursday and Friday evening will feature as opportunities for all delegates to join colleagues and friends over a meal to exchange information and ideas in an environment that fosters a co-operative approach and one which will enhance your overall conference experience.

The Conference will include a range of plenary and simultaneous stream sessions including international and interstate key speakers addressing a wide range of community engagement topics. The conference will once again host "The Great Debate", on Saturday. The Great debate provides fresh and entertaining insights on a range of ideas and sometimes controversial topics in contemporary community fire safety. The Great Debate concludes with the presentation to the winning team of the prestigious "Inaugural Memorial Perpetual and Generally Sought after Trophy for Delivering Unifying Community Knowledge", otherwise known as the "Ducky."

If you wish to present at the AE&FA Conference 2010, please submit an Expression of Interest with a brief description of your proposed presentation by the 18th December 2009 to the email address below.
