MEDIA RELEASE

Three new stations, two new trucks and long serving volunteers

25 July 2014

The dedication and hard work of volunteers in the Liverpool Range Zone will be celebrated by the NSW Rural Fire Service (NSW RFS) in five ceremonies.

NSW RFS Assistant Commissioner Bruce McDonald presented 23 volunteers with Long Service Medals and eight volunteers with life memberships during ceremonies over the two days.

"Each and every one of these volunteers are worthy of our most sincere thanks and I would like to personally commend them, not only for their commitment to the Service, but also to their community," Assistant Commissioner McDonald said.

"They have demonstrated an exceptional level of commitment to their community over many years and these medals are just a small token of our appreciation."

Assistant Commissioner McDonald also took the opportunity to congratulate Liverpool Range Zone volunteers on the two newest additions to their firefighting fleet, noting the new fire trucks would advance local firefighting efforts.

"The NSW RFS is committed to providing volunteer firefighters with the equipment they need to carry out the important work they do in protecting their local communities from fire," he said.

"These new vehicles are replacing older style models and will allow firefighters to continue providing a high level of emergency service to residents in the Liverpool Range Zone."

Assistant Commissioner McDonald also urged the Killoe, Settlement and Collaroy Rural Fire Brigades to be proud of their new stations, which are the culmination of years of hard work by volunteers.

"These stations are testament to how diligently and tirelessly the Brigades have worked to turn their dreams of a new station into a reality."

"Previously housed in local sheds, these new stations are a first for all three Brigades.

Assistant Commissioner McDonald said the 52 Brigades in the Liverpool Range Zone respond to a range of bush, grass and house fires, as well as motor vehicle accidents and other emergencies, each year.

"The hard work and professionalism of volunteers in the Liverpool Range Zone doesn't go unnoticed and this is a great opportunity for the broader community to express their gratitude and say thank you."
